FARMERS TOO BUSY FOR JURY SERVICE

Saylor Trial at Watseka, Ill., Promises to Be Absorbing Real Life Drama.

WATSEKA, ILL., March 20.—Apparently unable to secure a jury of farmers at "spring plowing time" to hear the evidence in the Saylor murder trial, Judge Dorrance Dibell, of the circuit court, has turned to the villages and towns of Iroquois county, and deputy sheriffs are busy today summoning a new panel of ninety business and professional men. From these it is expected to complete the jury Monday.

Greatest interest centers about Mrs. Lucy Saylor, widow of the victim, and Dr. W. R. Miller, Mrs. Saylor's close friend, who, with John C. Grunden, Mrs. Saylor's father, are charged with killing banker John Byron Saylor in his Crescent City home, July 11, 1909.

Attention also is directed to Miss Golda Saylor, eighteen-year-old daughter of the dead man, and Mrs. Cora Miller, wife of Dr. Miller.

Despite all the gossip of intimacy between her husband and Mrs. Saylor, Mrs. Miller has remained not only the unflinching friend and ally of her husband, but also the intimate of Mrs. Saylor and Miss Golda.

Both Mrs. Miller and Golda Saylor declare that Mrs. Saylor is innocent of any complicity in the death of Saylor and insist that Dr. Miller killed the banker in self-defense during a fight.

Would Remove Scandal.
So successful has Mrs. Miller been in advancing the cause of her husband and Mrs. Saylor, that she has brought Dr. R. E. Pierce, of Harrisburg, Pa., her wealthy brother-in-law, to Watseka prepared to spend his last dollar in an effort to clear the prisoners.

Looming up back of these active allies of the defendants is the silent but effective support of "Pete" West, Peoria's millionaire saloon man and brother-in-law of Dr. Miller, who is brought in as a witness at the trial.

Set firmly against these people and their friends are the six brothers of Mrs. Saylor, who are residents of Watseka and vicinity hold strong views regarding many of the things that Mrs. Lucy Saylor did in the years which preceded the murder of her husband.

Spent Much Money.
Mrs. Saylor wore expensive tailored garments, rode a Kentucky saddle, purchased many varieties of guns, as she was passionately fond of duck shooting, made frequent trips to Peoria and Chicago and also toured Europe.

All the time she was doing these things her neighbors gossiped regarding her husband receiving only a salary, although he was vice president of the Crescent City Bank. His estate was comparatively small. Mrs. Saylor told her neighbors that her husband received a salary of $10,000 a year.

The Sunday night Dr. Miller shot and killed Saylor in the Saylor cottage, the gossip regarding the woman and the physician became more bitter and continued so for some weeks. Within the last few weeks, however, there has been some relaxation of the gossip, and some sympathy is expressed for the woman who has grown thin and careworn in the county jail.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CHARITY BALL

President Consents to Be Patron of Knights of Columbus Dance.

That the charity ball to be held by the Knights of Columbus at the New Willard Hotel, March 28, will eclipse anything of this nature ever attempted by the knights in the past, is the prediction of the committee on arrangements.

President Taft, Vice President Shegman, and Cardinal Gibbons have consented to serve as patrons of the ball.

The list of patronesses is a long one and includes many of the best known women in the official, diplomatic, and army and navy circles of the National Capital.

Music during the evening will be furnished by a section of the United States Marine Band, and the decorations are to be one of the features of the evening.

The proceeds from the ball will be distributed among the various charity organizations in the District.

B'NAI B'RITH ORDER
PLANS CONVENTION

General Meeting of Organization of Hebrews to Be Held in Capital.

For the first time in its history the general convention of B'nei B'rith will convene in Washington on the morning of April 2.

The order was founded on October 13, 1843. Its founders were American citizens of Jewish faith who had come to this country from Germany. The lodge room was the school, the center of social activity, and of law. Few organizations have been a greater factor, it is said, in uplifting the Hebrew race.

The order has ten grand lodges in the United States and Europe, and affiliated lodges in Egypt, Jerusalem, and Switzerland. It has a membership of 10,000. The membership is made up from men in high walks of life, and includes on the roll are jurists, rabbis, lawyers, bankers, merchants, and doctors.

A home for the aged has been established by the order at Yonkers, N. Y., and orphan asylums are located at Cleveland, Atlanta, New Orleans, and San Francisco.

"WIRELESS" CLASS IS ORGANIZED

Station to Be Established at Y. M.
C. A. Building for Younger Members.

The younger members of the Y. M. C. A. are preparing to complete the organization of a wireless telegraphy class in connection with the work of the institution.

This class will have Major Charles McK. Saltzman, U. S. A., as instructor, and it is possible that its organization will be accomplished during the coming week. Major Saltzman is one of the army experts on wireless work and last evening delivered a lecture before the boys' club at the Y. M. C. A. building in which he described the work of the wireless telegraph.

He will deliver another lecture at a date to be decided upon later. It is expected that in connection with the work of the new class a wireless station will be established at the association building.

The fifth and last musical entertainment of the season will be held at the clubhouse April 24.

ORCHESTRA A BIG POPULAR FEATURE

The orchestra, in one gallery, which plays all evening, and the dancing floor have been popular features of the Midway.

"The Slide" is said to be the nearest thing to riding in an airship that one can find.

The "Soup Bowl" offers a game where most stiff-necked and reserved person alive can renew his youth. That "Lion and the Mouse Maze" is a simple look-alike, but when two parties of laughing folk get lost in its mazes and meet each other coming in opposite directions there is fun.

The biggest attraction just at present seems to be the "Human Roulette Wheel."

CHILDREN PLAN

Miss Mary Powell Burrill will take the leading part in a religious allegory, "The Little Pilgrims and the Book of Love," which will be presented by Miss Burrill and the children of representative families throughout the city, Wednesday evening, March 23, at St. Mary's chapel.

The allegory, which is devotional in character, was written by Mrs. Hobart for St. Agnes Sunday school, New York. In the presentation here the play will be interspersed with songs, hymns, and anthems rendered by selected voices and accompanied by orchestra and organ.

H. H. Freeman, organist of St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church, is personally directing the music. Admission is by card only.

MASTER W. A. ENGEL
TO PLAY AT RECITAL

Instructor Fabian Will Present
Youthful Pupil at the Columbia.

Mr. Fabian will present in recital at the Columbia Theater Tuesday afternoon, April 5, at 4:30 o'clock, his promising young pupil, Master W. A. Engel, Jr., of this city.

Though but fifteen years of age, young Engel has made splendid progress. He displays much artistic temperament in his playing, and draws from his instrument a beautiful singing tone.

Master Engel recently appeared before the Washington Saengerbund with credit to himself and pleasure to his hearers.

sisted by Vocalist and

The program will include: March, "Entry of the Gladiators," Fucik; overture, "Poet and Peasant," Suppe; soprano solo, "O Dry Those Tears," Del Riego, Mrs. Katharine P. Manchester; vocal chorus from "Lohengrin," Wagner; Spanish serenade, "La Paloma," Tradier; vocal chorus from "Il Trovatore," Verdi; reading, "Mr. Dingley on the Grip," Dunne, Mr. Charles H. Hanson; Waltz suite, "Waves of the Danube," Ivanovitch; soprano solo, "Angela's Serenade," Braga, Mrs. Manchester, violin obligato by Mr. Albert P. Johnston; a tone poem, "Apple Blossoms," Robert, finale, "Under the Banner of Victory," Von Bloch.

The assisting artists will be Mrs. Katharine P. Manchester, soprano; Miss Kate Bowbeer, accompanist; Mr. Charles H. Hanson, reader.

WILL SING OPERA
IN CONCERT FORM

Damrosch Orchestra, With Quartet, Plan to Give
"Eugene Onegin."

Walter Damrosch, with the New York Symphony Orchestra, will be heard at the New National Theater Sunday evening, April 3, at 8:15 o'clock, in the production of Tschakowsky's beautiful opera, "Eugene Onegin," in concert form.

The principal parts will be sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. Sara Anderson, soprano; Miss Nevada Van der Veer, contralto; Reed Miller, tenor, and Marcus Kellerman, baritone.

Miss Nevada Van der Veer was born on the shores of Lake Ozeago, made famous by Fenimore Cooper. From the age of fourteen to sixteen she was organist and choir director of St. Mary's Church, Springfield, Centre, N. Y. In France she studied with Marie Boge, the grand opera singer, and upon her return to America in 1906 she signed a three years' contract, making her debut with the Oratorio Society of New York.

She met with such success with the oratorio solo, that she was engaged by Walter Damrosch for his spring tour of the symphony orchestra, 1909, and is now singing with his orchestra on its present tour.

WAGNER OPERA
TO BE PRESENTED

English Tenor to Make First American Appearance in Baltimore.

Music lovers will be interested in the announcement that Wagner's great music-drama, "Die Walkure," which is the first part of the trilogy of the "Ring of the Nibelung," will be sung by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the Lyric Theater in Baltimore Tuesday night.

This performance will bring to Baltimore two of the foremost sopranos in German opera—Mrs. Johanna Gadski and Mrs. Olivia Fremstad. The former will be heard as Brunhilde, a role that she has sung with success in the presentation of the entire Wagner "Ring" in New York this season.

Mr. Fremstad will be the Siegfried, a part that she sang in the New York performances of the "Ring."

Walter Hyde, the English tenor, will make his American debut in "Die Walkure" as Siegmund. Clarence Whitehill, the American baritone, will sing the part of the god Wotan, and Robert Blass, the basso, will be the Hunding.

A feature of the performance will be the appearance as conductor of Alfred Hertz.

HESS TO BE SOLOIST FOR FINAL CONCERT

Boston Symphony Orchestra Will Make Last Appearance.

The last Boston Symphony Orchestra concert of the season will be given in the New National Theater on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The soloist will be Willy Hess. It has been several years since Mr. Hess has appeared here as soloist with the orchestra, but the impression he made previously is not worn away. He will play the "Third Concerto," by Max Bruch. This is not nearly so well known as the concerto in G minor, or the "Scottish Fantasia," by the same composer, and, in fact, Mr. Hess has been mainly instrumental in introducing it in Europe and this country.

The symphony will be "Schumann Major" in B flat, No. 1, commonly known as the "Spring" symphony. This was written at the most happy period of Schumann's life, just after his marriage to Clara Wieck.

The concert will begin with Beethoven's magnificent "Coriolanus" overture and end with Berlioz's brilliant overture "Benvenuto Cellini."

FAVORITE STARS COME TO CAPITAL

John Mason, Vic Moore, and Margaret Anglin in New Plays.

her claim to emotional acting her appearance last Tuesday afternoon at the Actors' Fund benefit would be credentialed enough. She is said to have similar opportunities for her peculiar ability as those afforded by the one-act Surtro play, in which she appeared on that occasion.

COLUMBIA—"The Talk of New York." The irrepressible, irresponsible "Kid Burns," again portrayed by Victor Moore, will hold the boards at the Columbia this week, when "The Talk of New York" plays a second engagement in Washington.

The unctuous slang of the race track hero, supplemented by a liberal quota of Cohen songs in that author's most Cohanesque vein, is sure to find liberal patronage.

Practically the same company seen here before, attired in new scenic equipment, is promised for this week. The chorus supplies a large share of the dash and ginger.

CHASE'S—Polite Vaudeville.
Not to be behind in the dramatic epidemic, Chase this week offers Valerie Bergere and a company of ten in "The Lion Tamer," described as a "spectacular circus comedy."

Miss Bergere is one of the few legitimate actresses who have added to their dramatic laurels on the vaudeville stage. Her one-act plays have been marked by genuine acting and her advance man promises that this season's offering will be no exception.

Harry Williams and Egbert Van Alstyne are booked for the week ending here before, attired in new scenic equipment, is promised for this week. The chorus supplies a large share of the dash and ginger.

ACADEMY—"The Joy Riders." George Sidney, the little comedian of "Busy Izzy" fame, has become something of an institution. Sidney brought to the stage a Hebrew type apart from the accepted style and it proved equally funny and was not in half so bad taste. His comedy lacks the "rough-house" element.

When he comes to the Academy this week he will be surrounded, it is said, by a company equally capable. This act discloses a number of names well known in the comedy field.

The chorus is another feature played up by advance representatives.

CASINO CONCERT.
A last opportunity will be afforded at the Casino continuous Sunday concerts this afternoon and evening to hear the Juvenile Song Birds, Miss Dorothy and Master Ellis Armstrong, who have been the idols of audiences at the Casino the past week. In their appearance with Rulan they have won the hearts of all who have seen them. On the stage of the theater, which was arranged especially for the children of the city, they were the recipients of much praise and the good wishes of a large audience. They will appear at both afternoon and evening concerts. Appearing at the concert today will be Miss Louise Levy, of the Levy family of musicians. Miss Levy is a student of ability and her playing has been a distinctive feature of the Casino bill during the past week.
